"Welcome Home" Was a Welcome Show

• We'd like you to know how much we appreciated the Christmas Day program Welcome Home.

Of course, we are steady viewers of Swingalong and we hope it will continue for a long time. These young people are so very talented, it is a joy to see and hear them. And the producers and writers, as well as everyone connected with the program deserve much praise.

This is something Winnipeg may be very proud to claim as our own. Keep it coming.—Mrs. N. MacA., Winnipeg.

"The Real Spirit of Christmas ..."

• To Red River Jamboree: I have just finished listening to your Christmas program. . . . We are fortunate to have TV for 24 hours a day (here) and for the past week there has seldom been a day that we haven't had Christmas programs presented to us from every network in the U.S.A. Your program has topped all of them. It had the real human touch, and it was the one program that really carried the spirit of Christmas, not only to the listeners but to those dear little children who were made so happy.

Every one of your artists excelled himself, and the singing and dancing was superb. . . . Tonight you sure gave us an excellent treat. So keep up your reputation, continue with your same gang, and good luck and happiness to all of you for 1962.—Mrs. T. O. Ville D'anjou, Montreal.

Northern Messenger Reaches South

• . . . (We) enjoyed greatly listening to your broadcasts, with your messages relayed to people in the far North. . . . I am in the eighth grade in junior high school, and have seen snow twice in my lifetime, and each time it was such an event that we are still talking about it! We would like to know more about life in your area. . . .—J.P., Metairie, Louisiana.

• Thought you would like to know how your station is reaching out. I listened to your program (Northern Messenger) and heard the reading of Christmas cards and messages. I think this is a wonderful service, and sure enjoyed it. . . . —R.M.B., Baxter Springs, Kansas.

• Heard your station and program Northern Messenger on a pocket radio, coming in clear here in California on December 15. . . .—J.K., Sacramento, Calif.

Telecast Time Inconvenient

• . . . I find your publication almost essential to the full enjoyment of the programs.

Some things about the CBC are hard to understand. For instance, why does a part of the Central Standard Time zone receive telecasts at one hour, and the rest of the zone, telecasts two hours later? Festival is broadcast from Winnipeg and Brandon at 8:30 Monday, and Yorkton, with (rebroadcasting) channels in Manitoba, telecasts it at 10:30 p.m. Recently you gave us "Carmen," but as my wife and I are over 70, we could not stay awake any longer than 11:30, and so lost the remainder of a very fine program. . . . —W.F.C., Swan River, Man.

J. Frank Willis dealt with a similar question Dec. 28 on "In Reply," when a listener asked why Saskatchewan stations received their programs from the Calgary delay centre, rather than directly from Winnipeg. He replied, in part:

"A direct Winnipeg feed would alter the whole network programming structure; every Saskatchewan station would have to agree to a new pattern of network local periods, and the local time that might be gained in the late evening would be far less valuable in terms of audience and revenue than the early evening time which would be lost. In any case, this sort of major change is not something that the CBC can just decide on and impose on its affiliates; neither is it something that a single station can decide to do and expect the CBC to go along with. . . . From the single station's point of view as well as the CBC's, it really isn't surprising that scheduling and distribution often have to be decided on a firmly practical basis."

Two Actors plus One Set equals Gripping Drama

THERE ARE ONLY two on-camera characters in this Wednesday's Playdate television drama and only one small set: a jail cell. But there is nothing static about John Glennon's script or about Ronald Weyman's production,

The Big Wheel is a gripping, moving drama exposing two men's personalities with humour, fast, exciting action, and pathos. It tells of a meek-mannered editor of an astrology magazine, Gilbert MacDonald (played by Eric Christmas), who finds himself sharing a cell with a fast-talking, knife-toting criminal, Edward Everett Cambridge, (played by Bruno Gerussi).

When the play opens, MacDonald has no idea of how he got there, or why he's locked up. By the time he does find out, he and Cambridge have revealed some of the ugliness of life behind bars, and on the "outside."

Off-camera remarks of guards and other prisoners will be spoken by Don Francks, Sean McCann, David French and James Beggs.

Author John Glennon is a 31-year-old American actor-writer who has appeared in, among other things, the road production of G. B. Shaw's Saint Joan, Tyrone Guthrie's production of Six Characters in Search of an Author, and several CBC-TV dramas. His play The Movie Star was seen on CBC-TV several seasons ago.

On Our Cover . . .

"Three little maids from school . . ." are Marie Gauley, Annabelle Adams and Genevieve Gordon of the Stratford Light Opera Society. They are seen in "The Mikado" on Festival's "Evening with Gilbert and Sullivan" Monday.

THE THRILL of listening to regular performances by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra once more can be experienced by CBC Radio listeners on the prairies. Concerts each week direct from New York have once more become a part of Saturday night radio fare, as was the case last winter. The broadcasts follow the NHL hockey game and the newscast, at 9:35 p.m. on CBW and CBK, and at 8:35 p.m. on CBX.

HOLIDAY WEEKEND, an episode in the Doctor Kildare series on CBC-TV, has been awarded a citation by the U.S. Advertising Council for contributing to traffic safety.

The episode, produced with the co-operation of the U.S. National Safety Council, dealt with the tragic results of reckless driving. Doctor Kildare is seen each Saturday evening on the CBC Television network. AS CHILLING mid-winter winds pile drifts in the driveway, Manitobans like to dream comforting dreams of summertime at the lake, drowsing in the sun on the beach or lazily trolling in a boat.

To help them dream, and maybe to introduce them to parts of their province's playgrounds they have not yet visited CBWT's Spotlight commenced a series of programs on Wednesday, January 17, about Manitoba's resorts. The first program was to visit Morden and district, while on succeeding Wednesdays at 5:45 p.m., Spotlight is to feature Welman Lake, Winnipeg Beach, Victoria Beach, Grand Beach, Clear Lake, the Whiteshell Region (two programs) and Central Manitoba. Ted Benoit is producer. Maurice Burchell and Chuck Skelding are co-hosts. IT SEEMS THAT out in Medicine Hat, despite the fact that the community is growing into a major prairie city, they still appreciate things done "Country Style." At least, that's the name of one of the most popular local productions on CHAT-TV—a show that draws consistent appreciation from the whole area served by the station.

Members of the program's band, appropriately called The Country Gentlemen, not only play a fine tune, but sing as well. Jon Thibert passes along country humour and, as host, introduces fresh local talent on each show. As well, the YMCA Live Y-er Dancers do some real out-west square dancing every second week.

It all adds up to more fun than a barn dance—and it's seen each Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. on CHAT-TV.

The Country Gentlemen—featured on "Country Style," CHAT-TV.

Martin Luther King —

Spokesman for Integration

"IF WE AS A people had as much religion in our hearts as we have in our legs and feet, we could change the world. . . . God grant that we wage the struggle with dignity and discipline." That is the prayer of the Reverend Martin Luther King, Jr., a 32-year-old, short, stocky, calmly reasoning civil rights leader who heads the anti-segregation struggle in the southern United States. His biggest weapon: passive resistance, which, he believes, "provides an answer to the long-debated question of gradualism versus immediacy. . . . If America is to remain a first-class nation, it cannot have a second-class citizenship."

CBC radio's Project '62 studies King's eventful career and his philosophy on Sunday afternoon in a feature called Martin Luther King. King will be heard reminiscing about his childhood in the deep South, where he was born to a Baptist minister and his wife, a former schoolteacher, and about events in his career that led to the development of his non-violent-resistance approach to segregation and discrimination problems. Several others involved in the same struggle will cast sidelights on his role as a civil rights leader, his methods of helping his people's fight for freedom and recognition, and his personality.

The program has been prepared by Eleanor Fischer, who travelled extensively through the South, recording interviews and observations. Miss Fischer is a young non-practising New York lawyer who devotes her time to preparing radio documentaries and profiles, several of which have been included in the Project series. Two of her profiles are scheduled for later in the season: on the city of Atlanta, and on novelist Henry Miller. She is one of the few people Miller has allowed to interview him.

Will Japan Dominate Golfing?

GENE SARAZEN, an American golfer who has won more than his weight in trophies, medals and cash during 41 years of tournament play, says that within 20 years Japan will dominate world golf.

Sarazen made his prediction after completing a 70,000-mile trip around the world in five months during the filming of a new and unique golf series in which some of the game's top professionals play on 11 of the world's most famous courses.

Wonderful World of Golf, which began on the CBC television network January 6, is seen each Saturday afternoon. Each week a top American pro competes against one of the best players associated with the course at which the match is held.

"No longer are the Americans and British the only great players of the game," says Sarazen, who won the United States Open Championship twice, the U.S. Professional Golfers' Association Championship three times, the Masters Tournament, the British Open and the Australian Open during his more active career. "The Australians, Canadians, French, South Americans, to name a few, are giving the established pros of the U.S. and Britain a rough time in international tournaments. But no country is undergoing such a golfing boom as is Japan.

"In Tokyo alone there are 3,000 driving ranges; on roofs, in basements, outdoors, in fact any place there is to spare, there is a driving range. It's not uncommon to see a Japanese woman running down the street with a sandwich in one hand and a club in the other, on her way to practise a little during lunch hour.

"In 1936 when I was in Japan, golf was strictly a rich man's game but now it is enjoyed by the middle class. However, it's still an expensive game, especially if you join a club. For instance, it costs a million yen (about $2,800 American) to join a Japanese club.

"The Japanese are great ones for learning from books. They study the techniques of American authors of golf books and they even go so far as to copy our style of golfing clothes. And the courses in Japan are among the greatest in the world. They are kept in excellent shape and are tough to conquer."

The match filmed in Japan will be seen January 27. Played at Tokyo's Kasumigaseki Country Club, it features American Bob Rosburg and Torakichi (Pete) Nakamura, one of Japan's top professionals and winner of the Japan Open four times.

This week on Wonderful World of Golf, Sarazen becomes one of the competitors as he meets veteran Henry Cotton of England at the Old Course at St. Andrews in County Fife, Scotland.

The camera work and commentating by Sarazen during the series is designed to emphasize the mental rather than the physical side of the game. The "why" of key shots becomes more important than the "how." Each program in the series is also partly a travelogue, with a few minutes devoted to places of interest in the vicinity of the course where the match is played. For instance, in the January 13 program, filmed at Banff Springs, Alberta, in which Jack Burke, Jr., of the U.S. played Canada's Stan Leonard, Burke told Sarazen that the scenery bothered him during the match because he found himself looking around between shots.

Other matches in the series are: Gene Littler vs. Byron Nelson at Pine Valley, New Jersey; Ken Venturi vs. Ugo Grappasoni at Olgiata, Rome; Gary Player vs. Peter Thomson at the Royal Melbourne, Australia; Mike Souchak vs. Roberto de Vicenzo at the Jockey Club, Buenos Aires; Jay Hebert vs. Flory Van Donck at St. Cloud, Paris; Ted Kroll vs. Ching Chen-Po at the Royal Hong Kong; and Billy Casper vs. Mario Gonzales at Gavea, Rio de Janeiro.

A caddy does double duty at the Royal Hong Kong Golf Club as another round is filmed for "Wonderful World of Golf."

'Discovery' reviews

The Spanish Civil War

THE SPANISH CIVIL WAR, one of the first major battles between 20th-century ideologies but only an hors d'oeuvre for the Second World War, is the subject during the next three weeks of CBC television's Discovery series, seen Sunday afternoons.

The war started July 17, 1936, when Francisco Franco and his forces attempted to take over the shaky Republic. In the next three years, 600,000 lives were lost in the conflict as Germany and Italy sent aid to the Franco side while Russia helped the Republic.

"At no time in the history of Europe or even perhaps the world has so passionate a hatred of religion and all its works been shown," writes British historian Hugh Thomas in his book The Spanish Civil War. "The Spanish working class attacked churchmen because they thought them hypocrites and because they seemed to give a false spiritual front to middle-class society or upper-class tyranny."

The Discovery series traces the turbulent history of Spain from the 19th century through to the conclusion of the Civil War in a trilogy produced by Alex Pratt in CBC Vancouver studios. George Woodcock is writer and interviewer for the three programs, all of which are narrated by Tom Robinson.

This week's program, subtitled Background, examines the era from the 19th century to the Catalan Statute of 1932 which gave limited autonomy to the northeastern province of Spain. It traces the emergence of General Primo de Rivera as dictator from September 13, 1923, to the end of his regime in January, 1930, and it also examines the Second Spanish Republic, which came into being April 14, 1931, following municipal elections and the ending of rule by monarch Alfonso XIII. Hugh Thomas, special guest for the program, discusses the reasons for the failure of Rivera's dictatorship and also why the king lost the support of the country.

The January 28 program, Conflict, deals with the troubled history of the Second Spanish Republic and the first weeks of the Civil War.

The final program, Resolution, tells the story of the Civil War from August, 1936, to its conclusion in March, 1939, and explores the significance of the war to Spain today.

Nickerson of Winnipeg. Mrs. Nickerson recently accompanied her husband to a Bio-Chemistry Congress in Moscow and her special interest during the trip was the role of women and children in the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia. In today's program we visit a nursery school, a Young Pioneer Camp, and meet some young dancers from Ubekistan.

CBWT—Discoveries

Dick Sutton looks at our province today in terms of resources and development. In doing so he points out that many of our modern-day riches come from the past. A modern highway—its roadbed the shore of a glacial lake, its grade of Silurian gravel, and its bituminous surface formed originally in the cretaceous age—shows clearly that all about us there are fascinating discoveries to be made in Manitoba.

CBXT—Kerry Wood Storybook

Stories with a Canadian background are read to children by writer and storyteller Kerry Wood. Producer, Don R. McRae.

Rob Roy

A Scottish historical adventure presented in serialized dramas. Stars are Donald Douglas and Tom Fleming.

CBXT—Pete And Gladys

Orchid Story. To keep her father busy and out of trouble, Gladys buys a greenhouse so that they can raise orchids together.

Don Messer's Jubilee

Featuring Don Messer and his Islanders with singers Marg Osburne and Charlie Chamberlain and the Buchta Dancers.

Guests on this program are Scottish dancers Marie Church and Joe Wallin, from Dartmouth, N.S., and Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland. Mr. Sutherland is a piper and Mrs. Sutherland a Scottish dancer.

Danny Thomas

The Big Fight. Danny Williams and his boss disagree over who is more important to the success of the Copa Club.

Live A Borrowed Life

Regular panelists Bill Walker and Elwy Yost are joined by guest Sally Creighton, freelance writer and broadcaster. Moderator is Charles Templeton.

Bob Cummings

U.N. The Night And The Music. Bob Carson takes on the job of protecting a foreign diplomat and his daughter when a fellow countryman tries to force the diplomat into cancelling his speech to the U.N.

The ghosts of Gilbert and Sullivan, played by Douglas Campbell and Eric Christmas, above, appear Monday on "Festival."

Festival

An Evening with Gilbert and Sullivan. Produced by Norman Campbell. Script by Ray Jessel. Stars are Douglas Campbell as W. S. Gilbert and Eric Christmas as Sir Arthur Sullivan. Members of the Stratford Light Opera Company are featured. The orchestra is under the direction of Godfrey Ridout. Choreography by Gladys Forrester.

The ghosts of Gilbert and Sullivan return to watch a television production of their one-act opera, Trial by Jury. They reminisce argumentatively about their earthly collaborations.

Trial By Jury stars Eric House, Marion Studholme, Andrew Downie, Harry Mossfield, Howell Glynn, Howard Mawson and Jack Merigold.

Also featured in the program are:

Excerpt from The Mikado (Three Little Maids From School): Annabelle Adams, Marie Gauley and Genevieve Gordon.

Excerpts from The Yeomen Of The Guard. (When Our Gallant Norman Foes): Irene Byatt, as Dame Caruthers.

Solos from Thespis (Little Maid of Arcadee); Douglas Campbell as Gilbert.

Fighting Words

Newspaper columnist Nathan Cohen is the referee on this program of opinion.

CBXT—Naked City

New York To L.A. Detective Flint is sent to Los Angeles to bring back two murderers who have been apprehended for a murder committed in New York.

Looking At Heads For Spring. Margaret Ness has just returned from New York where she viewed the new spring hats. Some of them are shown today.

January Skin Care. Jean Lewis, with some advice on how to care for your skin during the cold January days.

National School Telecasts

Voice Of The People—Lord Elgin. Lord Elgin, Governor-General of Canada, is concerned that parliamentary government could falter and fail in the dispute of rival parties over the Rebellion Losses Bill of 1849. The program deals with Lord Elgin's refusal to be diverted either by an angry mob or by fear for his own career, from this fight to establish responsible government in the emerging Dominion of Canada. Pressures are brought to bear upon Lord Elgin by such powerful people as Sir Alan McNabb, head of the Tory extremists, who urges him to exercise his prerogative and refuse to sign the bill.

The Verdict Is Yours

Starting today: The People vs. Dentor. The curator of an art museum is charged with stealing a Rembrandt and trying to replace it with a forgery.

Look For New Issues

THE CBC STAMP CLUB (44,000 members in about 60 countries) which celebrates its 12th birthday on CBC radio February 3, will have a special guest on this Saturday's broadcast at 12:15 p.m. — Postmaster-General William Hamilton.

For the first time since Canadian stamps appeared in 1851, Canada has issued miniature stamp sheets (20 fives, 25 twos) for public convenience, in addition to the regular 100-stamp sheets. In 1962 the Canadian one to five-cent stamps are to be re-designed, and once the new designs appear, the present miniatures will no longer be sold, and so will increase in value to philatelists.

The Postmaster-General will describe the new stamps and discuss their significance. Hosts for the CBC Stamp Club are Doug Patrick and Judy McLeod.

Program Notes

JANUARY 24

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

CBXT-Ladies First

Helen Bentley gives another lesson on sewing; Mel Hurtig gives a book review; and a short film on England is shown. Host and hostess are Jim Schrumm and June Sheppard.

Mlle. de Paris

Another visit to places of interest in the famous city of Paris with hostess Evelyne Dandry.

Music Break

Featuring singer Georges LaFleche with the Bob McMullin Orchestra, and announcer Warren Davis.

Razzle Dazzle

A program for school age children, featuring variety acts, puzzle competitions, and the various problems that face school age children. Hosts are Michel Finney and Al Hamel.

CBWT-Busy Fingers

Soap Carving. Betty Nickerson welcomes Mervin Farrough's class of grade seven students from Deer Lodge Junior High School in St. James for a demonstration of carving in soap.

The pictures sent in by viewers are on display and the book awards are announced.

CBWT-Spotlight

Continuing a series on Manitoba summer resorts with hosts Maurice Burchell and Chuck Skelding. Producer, Ted Benoit. This week, Welman Lake is the resort visited.

Bruno Gerussi, pictured above, in his recent role as Louis Riel, is one of the stars Wednesday in Playdate's presentation, "The Big Wheel."

CBXT-Farm Focus

Al Richardson and Dick Bocking present interviews and films covering the Alberta farm scene. This week's program deals with the preparation of seed with emphasis on germination, cleaning and treating. Special guests from the Alberta Department of Agriculture are Orland Bratvold, supervisor of crop improvement, and Spencer Goddard, supervisor of special projects.

CBXT-Gateway

Colin MacLean hosts the third in a series with the Better Business Bureau.

CBXT-Margie

A comedy series taking you back to the era of the roaring twenties.

Cynthia Pepper stars as the pert 17 year old school girl caught up in the mad whirl of the 1920's.

Mr. Fix-It

Building A Rec Room. Part I. This program is the first of a four part series on building a basement recreation room. With the assistance of Rex Loring, handyman Peter Whittall shows how to put strapping on concrete walls. Whittall also talks about various types of panel wall covering that can be used in the room.

Playdate

The Big Wheel, a drama by John Glennon. The meek-mannered editor of an astrology magazine finds himself sharing a jail cell with a fast-talking, knife-toting criminal. He doesn't remember how he got there or why.

Stars are Eric Christmas and Bruno Gerussi with the off-camera voices of Don Francks, Sean McCann, David French and James Beggs. Producer, Ronald Weyman.

The Bob Hope Show

Comedian Bob Hope led a troupe of stars to the Arctic to entertain American servicemen over the Christmas holidays. This was his 10th annual Yuletide tour of American overseas bases. Filmed highlights of Hope's trip are shown during this hour-long show, and Hollywood personalities who went on the tour are also seen on the program. They are Jane Mansfield, singer-actress Dorothy Provine, comedian Jerry Colonna, vocalist Anita Bryant, Miss World Rosemary Frankland, actor Peter Leeds, George Hope (Bob's brother), and Les Brown and his Band of Renown.

Explorations

Portraits of The Thirties-The Betrayal. After Duplessis came to power in 1936, the people of Quebec waited for him to fulfill his election promises—financial aid for farmers, workmen's compensation and nationalization of Quebec's hydro-electric and other industries controlled by non-French-Canadian interests.

Bob Hope is seen on another visit with the U.S. troops, this time in the far north, in a special show Wednesday, pre-empting Perry Como. Jayne Mansfield is co-hostess of the show.

He had promised many radical reforms but failed to carry them out. Instead he followed a paternal, conservative concept of government.

The program examines reasons for this failure to live up to promises—a failure that disillusioned many of his followers. In a snap election in 1939, Duplessis was defeated. He rallied support during the next five years and in the 1944 election defeated the Liberal government of Adélard Godbout. He remained at the head of the Quebec government until 1959, stepping up his campaign of French-Canadian nationalism and provincial autonomy.

CBWT-Recital

The performers on this program are baritone Robert Publow, pianist Ted Lincoln and guitarist Leonard Breau.

Robert Publow sings:

Di Provenza il Mar, il Suol Verdi
(from La Traviata)
Sea Fever.....John Ireland and John Masefield
Trade Winds (from The Three Salt Water Ballads).....Frederick Keel and John Masefield
Rolling Down to Rio.....E. Germain and Rudyard Kipling

Ted Lincoln plays:

Rhapsody in G minor, op. 79, No. 2.....Brahms
Etude: Harp Study, op. 25, No. 1.....Chopin
Etude: Revolutionary, op. 10, No. 12.....Chopin

Leonard Breau plays:

Minuet and Prelude No. 2 (from French Harpsicord Suite).....Bach
Toque Minero (Trananta).....Folk song

Program Notes

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Open House

Artist In The Kitchen. Lillian Kaplan, replacing Madame Benoit, who is ill, produces one of her delicious dishes.

Help Wanted. Dr. Margery King replies to letters sent in by viewers.

National Schools Telecast

Ancient Instruments. Actual performances on some musical instruments of former centuries, many of which are precursors of present-day orchestral instruments.

Ladies First

The Consumers Association of Canada and its concern with good design is featured today with Professor Lillian Allen using flatware to illustrate some of the principles.

Alice Poyser reviews some of the new books that have been of particular interest to her, and Ellen Simmons explores some of the intricacies of the electorate related to Federal Government operations.

Stop, Look And Listen

Marquetry (using wood veneer to make patterns and pictures) is Geoff Spurr's special subject this week. How to make a checkerboard is demonstrated.

Geoff Spurr suggests handicraft projects for youngsters on Stop, Look and Listen each Thursday afternoon.

Continuing with his history of magic, Dennis Allen tells more secrets of the Greek Temple and shows how an early feat of magic was the fore-runner of one of today's modern kitchen conveniences. There is also a surprise appearance from another guest magician.

Recommended Reading. More books for young people are introduced by Warren Davis.

CBWT—Warren's Corner. Warren Davis introduces newspaper woman Margaret Hood with a new monthly series about personal development for young people. The series includes: Making the Most of Yourself, Success Stories, the Latest of Everything from Clothes to Records and Community and Group Activity.

CBXT—Two Faces West

The Wayward. A young hoodlum and his partner murder and rob an old prospector.

The Nature of Things

Donald Crowdis, Nova Scotia Science Museum, presents two items about liquids: how detergents remove dirt; and how one liquid passes through another liquid.

The Defenders

Featuring E. G. Marshall and Robert Reed as a father and son lawyer team in a series of trials in which they endeavour to uphold justice in the criminal courts. The series is based on Reginald Rose's 1957 murder trial story "The Defender." Rose acts as script editor and writes some episodes himself.

Storm At Birch Glen. Lawyers Lawrence and Ken Preston defend a supervisor of a boys' reformatory who has been charged with causing the death of one of his charges.

CBWT—Ben Casey

An hour-long dramatic series featuring a young resident in neurosurgery at a large metropolitan hospital. Series details in authentic terms the story of professional and personal problems of young doctors in training. Starring Vincent Edwards as Dr. Ben Casey.

CBXT—Bowling

Each week professional ten-pin championship bowlers compete for $1,500 in prize money. The winner of this week's match will return next week to meet a new challenger.

Will We Solve The World Food Problem?

ONE OF HISTORY'S most perplexing situations exists now: many countries in the world have a surplus of food while other nations are on the verge of starvation. On the surface it would appear that a simple solution to the problem could be worked out but in reality it has been one of the most difficult tasks before the United Nations.

There are more than three billion people living on this earth. In the last 150 years the world population has doubled, but statisticians inform us that in just 40 years, that figure will double again. Food production, despite phenomenal increases in some nations, is increasing by only one per cent each year, on the average, while the population increase is 1.6 per cent. Unless there can be some form of distribution of the surplus food from the "have" to the "have-not" countries, the situation will grow progressively worse.

When various nations sit down to try to arrive at a suitable formula for alleviating the food condition, they are immediately faced with a raft of problems: Can food aid, in some circumstances, reduce the incentive to improvement of domestic production in the receiving country? If the countries with surplus food sell their agricultural products to the underdeveloped nations, they take dollars which are needed for industrial development. What will be the reaction if a supplying country suddenly has no surplus? Can regular commercial trade be protected from being undermined by non-commercial sales? Are there objections by underdeveloped nations to the obligations involved in accepting such assistance? Does encouraging food aid reduce other kinds? Are the costs to the surplus-producing nation excessive? What is the best way to use surplus food?

WILL WE SOLVE THE WORLD FOOD PROBLEM?

Prior to last year, two plans for a world food bank were rejected by the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization for various reasons, but mainly because safeguards could not be found that would prevent the release of surplus foods from interfering with normal world trade channels.

Now, however, there appears to be a good start towards a world food policy aimed at making the best use of surplus foods in helping world needs. And Canada has played a prominent role in the establishment of this "World Food Program," which appears to be on the verge of adoption by the U.N. General Assembly.

The plan, which will be experimental in nature, will be jointly undertaken on a three-year basis by the FAO and the UN, aided by other UN agencies. It will seek to provide food in emergency or disaster situations and to counteract chronic malnutrition, particularly among pre-school and school children. The countries receiving the food will be those who would not otherwise be able to afford commercial agricultural trade.

Contributions to the program will be made on a voluntary basis with the aim of $100,000,000 in the form of appropriate commodities, acceptable services and cash — the cash component being at least one-third of the total contributions. To provide guidance on policy, administration and operations, an intergovernmental committee of 20 nations which are members of FAO or the UN will be elected, half by the FAO council and half by the UN.

The United States has already offered to make available $40 million in commodities to the fund and Canada has offered $5 million in commodities and cash. Denmark has also offered $2 million in food and cash while other countries have shown a willingness to join but have not specified the size of their contributions.

Just what this World Food Program is, how it is being organized and what problems it has to overcome is the subject of a special 45-minute National Farm Radio Forum this Monday at 8:30 p.m. on the CBC Trans-Canada radio network.

Entitled Food For Peace, the program is produced by Larry Gosnell of the CBC farms and fisheries department.

FRENCH TELEVISION HIGHLIGHTS

Channel 6—CBWFT

A strange London club of the 19th century is the title and subject of this week's "Histoires extraordinaires" on CBWFT, Sunday January 21st at 9:30 p.m.

It is called "Suicide Club" and is taken from the "New Arabian Nights" by the English poet Robert Louis Stevenson (1850-1894). The reference to the "Arabian Nights" has no bearing on the subject of the book, a collection of tales resembling Edgar Allen Poe's "tales of death" and stranger-than-fiction novels. Here again is a collection of the mysterious and the unbelievable, with its full dosage of suspense.

Jean-Louis Roux is featured in "The Suicide Club," by R. L. Stevenson, Sunday, January 21, at 9:30 p.m., on "Histoires extraordinaires," CBWFT.

"Le Suicide Club" is a strange association of desperate men who, having paid a steep entrance fee, (Please turn to page 27)

Igor Stravinsky: 70 Years a Composer

IGOR STRAVINSKY, a 5'4", bird-like, highly charged man nearing his 80th birthday, has been composing for more than 70 years. He's been called "traitor," "reactionary," "courageous explorer," and other devastating and flattering names, about none of which he apparently gives a hoot.

In 1958 he was elected Outstanding Musical Figure of Our Time by a group of 400 musical organizations around the world. Told of the title, which he had been bearing unofficially for some time, he replied tartly: "I'm flattered, of course, but I am inured equally to awards and bad reviews."

He considers music as a rite. "I hold that music is given us to create order, to carry us from the anarchical, individual condition to a regular condition . . . I am on a perfectly sure road. There is nothing to discuss or to criticize. One does not criticize anyone who is functioning. A nose is not manufactured—it just exists. So it is with my art."

Recently this controversial, confident man flew into Toronto from his Hollywood home with his wife, his biographer and musical assistant, American conductor Robert Craft, and a portable medicine cabinet with which the composer always travels.

The occasion: to prepare three CBC programs, two for radio and one for TV. This Sunday at 6 p.m. Craft conducts the CBC Symphony Orchestra in an all-Stravinsky program including the Firebird Suite and Symphony of Psalms (featuring the Festival Singers).

During their six days in Toronto, Stravinsky and Craft videotaped a special TV program to commemorate Stravinsky's 80th birthday next June. It will be seen in the Festival series that month. Performed by the CBC Symphony and the Festival Singers, the program will include portions of L'Histoire du Soldat in an informal rehearsal format, and the complete Symphony of Psalms, both conducted by the composer, as well as a group of Russian songs featuring the soprano and contralto sections of the Festival Singers, orchestral excerpts from the ballet Petrouchka, and other Stravinsky works. Another portion of the 90-minute program will be videotaped in March, when choreographer George Balanchine and four leading dancers of the New York City Ballet will present excerpts from Stravinsky ballets. A radio documentary, to be heard on CBC Wednesday night in June, will present Stravinsky and Craft talking about the composer's works, with recorded musical illustrations.

While the CBC is celebrating Stravinsky's birthday in Canada, the composer will be celebrating it with his wife and Robert Craft at music festivals in Moscow and his native Leningrad. Stravinsky is a U.S. citizen, and hasn't been in Russia since shortly before the First World War.

He is not a graduate of any conservatory, and since he found his metier in the world of music, after giving up the study of law, has refused to be bound by tradition.

He was born to a cultured upper middle-class family in 1882. His father was a distinguished bass-baritone at the Imperial Opera House in St. Petersburg. Young Igor began to compose when he was nine. "I was playing a scale on the piano," he

SPORTS

THIS IS THE time of year everybody wishes it was spring, particularly the golf bugs. If you happened to be one of those fortunates who received some piece of golf equipment or other on Christmas then you no doubt are mighty anxious to try it out. The living room has to suffice for the time being, though and CBC television will be helping you to enjoy yourself.

The big item, at least as far as I'm concerned, is the live telecast of the Bing Crosby Open Golf tournament. On Sunday afternoon, January 21, CBC television will present an hour and a half of the Crosby tournament.

The old moaner himself, along with Chris Schenkel, who does the NFL telecasting from New York and Jim McKay, who used to do All-Star Golf, will do the commentating.

Besides the 150 top notch professionals that take part, there will also be 150 amateurs including many of the top celebrities in sport and show business. Names like Bob Hope, Dean Martin, Tennessee Ernie Ford, Phil Harris, Mickey Mantle and many more will come into view during this show.

On Saturday, January 20, the usual top-notch items:

Cross-Canada Curling features the finals of the competition, John David Lyon of Manitoba representing the West against Jim Florian of Nova Scotia, the eastern champion. What bets that Lyon wins it all? The West always does.

Immediately following the curling, we switch to golf. The Wonderful World of Golf features Gene Sarazen and Scottish champion

METROPOLITAN OPERA

La Boheme. By Giacomo Puccini. Features soprano Lucine Amara and tenor Barry Morell. Conductor is Martin Rich. Place, Paris. Time, about 1830.

Act I. A garret. Marcello is painting while Rodolfo is gazing out of the window. As they have no fire they use the manuscript of Rodolfo's drama for fuel. Colline enters shivering; he is followed by three young men with food, wood and cigars. Schaunard, who follows, explains the source of his riches. While they drink, the landlord arrives to collect the rent from Marcello. They flatter him and give him wine. The rent money is divided for a carousal in the Quartier Latin. The other Bohemians go out, but Rodolfo remains in order to work. Mimi enters and asks Rodolfo to light her candle. She departs, but returns in a few minutes to say she has forgotten her key. Both candles are snuffed out and they fumble in the dark for the key. Rodolfo finds it and pockets it. He takes her hand and in two arias they relate the story of their varied experiences. The waiting friends call Rodolfo, but he wishes to remain at home with Mimi. She decides to accompany him when they persuade him to go.

Act II. Quartier Latin. A large crowd is on the street. Colline buys a great coat. The friends go to a cafe and while they eat, Marcello's former lover, Musetta, arrives with her rich admirer Alcindoro. Wishing to be alone with Marcello, Musetta feigns to be suffering from a tight shoe and sends Alcindoro to a shoemaker. Musetta and Marcello fall into each other's arms. It is discovered that Schaunard's riches are gone and the friends cannot pay the bill. Musetta has the entire bill charged to Alcindoro. Joining in a procession, Marcello and Colline carry Musetta out on their arms amid the applause of the spectators. When all have gone, Alcindoro arrives with the shoe. The waiter hands him the bill, and horror-stricken at the amount he sinks into a chair.

Act III. At the toll gate. Clothing peddlers come to the city. Mimi, coughing violently, wishes to speak to Marcello who resides in a little tavern near the barrier where he paints signs for the innkeeper. She tells him of her hard life with Rodolfo who has abandoned her that night. Rodolfo, who is staying at the inn, enters seeking Marcello. Mimi conceals herself. Rodolfo speaks of her deadly illness. Marcello attempts to silence him, but Mimi hears all. She is discovered by her coughing. Marcello joins Musetta in the tavern and Rodolfo and Mimi are finally reconciled. Musetta approaches with Marcello and they have a violent quarrel.

Act IV. Garret room. Marcello and Rodolfo are vainly trying to forget their love affairs and to work. Schaunard and Colline arrive with dinner. They parody a plentiful banquet, dance and sing. Musetta and the suffering Mimi appear and all assist the dying girl. Colline goes out to pawn his beloved coat. Mimi and Rodolfo, left alone, recall their past happiness. The others return and while they prepare medicine for her, Mimi dies.

LATE CONCERT

Another in the recorded series of Louisville Commissioned Works.

Concluding the opera, The Holy Devil, by Nicolas Nabokov, based on the murder of Gregory Rasputin.

Act II. A drunken Rasputin is seen, carousing and reeling in pursuit of a gypsy singer. He passes out on a couch and in his drunken nightmare he appears to be in constant pursuit of the gypsy girl who continues to elude his frustrated grasp. A shadowy chorus of monks appear and disappear intermittently warning him to repent of his evil deeds and especially of his blasphemous delusion that he is the "saviour of Russia and the Czars." The opera concludes with the grisly murder of The Holy Devil.

The cast is as follows:

Rasputin.....Robert Fischer, bass

Empress.....Audrey Nossaman, soprano

Czarevich.....Larry St. Clair, tenor

Prince.....William Pickett, baritone

Featuring the chorus of the Kentucky Opera Association. The orchestra is under the direction of Moritz Bomhard. Prepared by Benjamin Horch.

Patricia Alcock. Listeners may remember Matinee's recent interview with Dr. Norman Alcock, founder of the Canadian Peace Research Institute. Today Marjorie McEnaney talks to his wife Patricia, who has given him devoted support in his efforts to formulate a plan whereby scientists could work for peace. Mrs. McEnaney is a Toronto freelance writer and broadcaster.

Do We Really Want Children To Think For Themselves? Sybil Shack has heard people say that the main purpose of education is to encourage children to think for themselves. But she is now skeptical about this kind of statement, and explains why she believes that most people want their children to think exactly as they themselves have always thought. Miss Shack is principal of a Winnipeg high school.

promise to commit suicide on the day their name is selected.

On a voyage to England, the Emperor of Bohemia discovers the strange club and his valet, Colonel Valacky, decides to play the game.

Jean-Louis Roux plays the Emperor of Bohemia; Jean Dalmain will be featured as his valet Colonel Valacky, alias Major Alfred Hammersmith; François Tassé plays a young over-sensitive poet. François Rozet will be seen as the president of the Club, who by some strange twist of fate always ends up on top.

"Le Suicide Club" will be seen on the Sunday Theatre, January 21st at 9:30 p.m.

Two in solitude

An excellent drama by August Strindberg: "La danse de mort," is presented on the French Network on Thursday January 25th at 9:00 p.m. on "Téléthéâtre."

"La Danse de mort" begins as an innocent wedding reel and culminates after 25 years of a miserable life, in a cruel family squabble. The action takes place in an abandoned prison, where for a quarter of a century, an elderly Captain and his wife have lived in total isolation. Their moral as well as physical isolation has deepened to the abyssmal point. What used to be a "cold" war of continued silence and superficial flurries becomes an implacable and deadly combat of nerves, with both antagonists trying to annihilate the will of the other.

On the eve of their 25th wedding anniversary, during the usual bout of accusations and counter-accusations, a third person arrives, Alice's cousin Kurt, who earlier had married them.

He is the unwilling witness of the couple's final all-out assault on each other.

"La Danse de mort" was written in 1900, and like most of Strindberg's works, is something of an autobiography. The Swedish playwright, who was thrice divorced, is "seen" partly as Kurt, the forgotten husband and father, and as Edgar, the solitary, evil-minded and senile captain thrown onto the threshold of death by his wife, but who comes back victorious. Alice, like Strindberg's first wife, is a former actress who accuses her husband of having turned her away from a brilliant career to a life of misery and desolation.

In the words of critic Eugene O'Neill, August Strindberg remains, after a good number of years, a master playwright, perhaps the greatest still in the modern theatrical field.

"La Danse de mort" will be seen Thursday, January 25th at 9:00 p.m. in a Canadian production by Jean Faucher.

recalls. "I thought, if somebody invented the scale, I can change something in the scale and invent something else—and I invented."

In 1907 he had the good luck to meet Rimsky-Korsakoff, with whom he studied until the older composer's death a year later. Stravinsky's ballet The Firebird (1910), a vivid essay in the exotic, and one of his most popular works, commissioned for Diaghilev's Ballet Russe, has been called "the apotheosis of Rimsky-Korsakoff," but it is also completely original Stravinsky.

The far-sighted gained an inkling of what was to come from Stravinsky's pen when, in 1911, his friend Diaghilev produced Stravinsky's Petrouchka in Paris. It was a melancholy sort of Punch and Judy show for dancers, its dissonance foreshadowing the wild, sensual music of Rite of Spring, which followed two years later. The Paris premiere of Rite of Spring, conducted by Pierre Monteux, choreographed and danced by the great Nijinsky, was a riotous affair. The music seemed so barbarically free to the shocked audience that they erupted violently and nearly tore the house down. Stravinsky ignored the clamour and calmly walked out of the theatre. Now the work is in the standard orchestral repertoire all over the world.

During the First World War Stravinsky moved to Switzerland, and after the war to France. There he did an about-face, and his composing style gradually evolved from the savagery of Rite of Spring to an 18th-century neo-classicism, as evidenced in his 1920 ballad Pulcinella, based on music by Pergolesi. Some of his most brilliant music was composed in this style, including Symphony of Psalms.

This, of course, threw the critics for a loop again—they had expected more barbarism. They have learned that Stravinsky does not do the expected. Following on his neo-classical period he moved into the ultra-romantic mood of the 19th century. At the start of the Second World War he settled in the United States, where he raised eyebrows again with his jazz work, Ebony Concerto, written for Woody Herman's band.

Obviously he enjoys shaking up stick-in-the-muds. "The trouble with music appreciation in general is that people are taught to have too much respect for music; they should be taught to love it, instead," he says. Suddenly, in 1956, he began composing in the 12-tone style, which he had carefully avoided previously—and refuses to explain himself. "Who says it's 12-tone?" he demands. "In a few years people will not care whether it's 12, 16, 24 or any other number. They will understand."

Henry Cotton at famous old St. Andrews in Scotland.

The January 20 bowling show originates from O'Connor Bowl in Toronto and of course the day's activities wind up with the always popular NHL telecast from Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens where the Boston Bruins will meet the Leafs.

The Bruins have a rookie-studded lineup that's found victories hard to come by this season, and they have little chance of a play-off berth. However, they can get tough on occasion—on their last Saturday night showing in Toronto they gave the Leafs their first beating on home ice this year—7-4. In Don Head the Bruins have a sometimes sensational and always colourful net-minder. He's one of seven rookies on the club. The others, most of whom are familiar to Western fans, are Cliff Pennington, Terry Gray, Ted Green, Wayne Connolly, Pat Stapleton and Eddie Westfall.

The Leafs, of course, have proved to be one of the NHL's top contenders, and despite a rash of injuries to players like Kelly, Shack and Keon, they seem destined to finish 1-2 in the regular schedule. As always, Billy Hewitt will handle the television commentary and Foster Hewitt will describe the game on the CBC Radio network.

Just another top-notch weekend for sport fans on CBC television.

Two Good Reasons for Reading

"Some people read books as something to keep them lulled, and some to try and find out how the world works—what life is and how we can find a way through it. They seem to be both perfectly good ways of approaching books. And I suspect many of us do both of them."—Sir Charles Snow.

TRANS-CANADA MATINEE

At The United Nations. Kathleen Teltsch, United Nations correspondent for the New York Times, gives her weekly report on activities at the U.N.

Let's Be Frank. Betty Shapiro of Montreal answers letters.

Guest of The Month. Mrs. Frank Ross, newly elected Chancellor of the University of British Columbia — the first woman to hold this office. She is herself a UBC graduate and the wife of a former lieutenant-governor of British Columbia.

W-2:03 pm K-2:03 pm X-2:33 pm

NATIONAL SCHOOLS BROADCAST

The program concerns itself with representative centres of dairy production in Ontario and Quebec. We see how and why such things as a dairy surplus develop, and what has been done to solve some of the problems such surplus creates. The relationship between the surplus, the United Nations, and the world food shortage problem is explained.

W-3:00 pm K-3:00 pm X-2:00 pm

VANCOUVER THEATRE

The presentation this week is Once Upon A Moon by Eric Nicol.

W-3:30 pm K-3:30 pm X-3:30 pm

SPEAKING PERSONALLY

The Epic Of The Jervis Bay. Lloyd McGinnis of Halifax gives an account of the merchant cruiser Jervis Bay and her captain, Fogarty Fegan who escorted a convoy out of Halifax during World War II in 1940. The Jervis Bay fought for three hours with a German pocket-battleship and saved all but five of the convoy.

W-7:20 pm K-7:20 pm X-7:20 pm

COOK'S TOUR

with Mat Gauer

SWEET & SOUR HAM

2½ cups slivered cooked ham
⅓ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup sliced celery
2 tbsp. cooking oil
1½ tbsp. corn starch
¾ cup water
½ cup canned pineapple juice
1½ tbsp. vinegar
2 tbsp. brown sugar
1½ tsp. prepared mustard
½ cup pineapple tidbits

Brown ham, green pepper and celery in hot oil. Mix corn starch, water, juice, vinegar, sugar and mustard—add to ham and cook until sauce is thick and transparent. Add pineapple tidbits. Heat. Make a ring of cooked rice and pour in ham pineapple mixture; garnish with parsley. Makes 4 servings.

HAM 'N SAUCE

Cooked ham (leftover)
1 cup applesauce
½ cup chopped raisins
⅓ cup brown sugar
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. nutmeg
2 tbsp. honey

Arrange small or broken thin slices of ham in baking pan or shallow casserole. Combine remaining ingredients and spread over ham. Bake in slow oven 325 degrees for 20 minutes. Serve with cooked rice to 4 people.

Jean Marshall:

"Natural-Born Singer"

AS STRANGE as it may seem, the tall, dark-haired singing star of CBC-TV's Reflections, soprano Jean Marshall, has had no formal voice training. "Jean has a natural singing voice," says producer Robert Alban, "which she has trained herself." And violinist Francis Chaplin feels that "Jean was born with what the rest of us work hard to achieve."

Reflections, a half-hour of light classical music from Halifax, returned to the CBC-TV network January 7, and will be seen each Sunday afternoon.

Jean studied piano for two years as a child in her home town of Yarmouth, N.S., but as far back as she can remember, she has always been singing: first as a child performer on the local radio station, then in the church choir, operettas and minstrels.

She attended the Yarmouth County Academy and graduated with a business course. At this time she started singing with the local dance band led by Furber Marshall, whom she later married.

Her first encounter with CBC was in 1957 when she appeared on CBC Radio's Caravan. This program spotlighted the town of Digby, N.S., where she was living at that time. The following year Jean auditioned for CBC Talent Festival.

Having won the regional finals of this network program, which starred Denny Vaughan, she went to Toronto to appear in the finals. In spite of her not winning the grand prize, she feels that this was the turning point in her singing career.

What resulted was numerous appearances on network radio programs—Lazy Afternoon, Tempo, Strings 'n Things. She also starred on a local television show, and made frequent appearances as guest soloist on Reflections when it was telecast on the Maritime television network. In the spring of 1960 she became a regular soloist on Reflections.
